

Divination

Stacy Nigliazzzo

I dressed her wound
after the biopsy,

a scarlet braid
laced with black thread.

She was alone, but spoke of her father at her bedside attending a bowl of water and sand, pulling out stars.

He pinned them in her hair and stayed until I cut the suture.